Grooming pregnant or female dogs recently having a litter

I understand that participation in the above event or activity could include actions or tasks which might be hazardous to my pet. Grooming a female pregnant dog is very harsh on their body. Which could include but is not limited to loss of litter in the womb. As we groom female dogs after just having a litter, our staff only uses a hypo-allergenic shampoo that is safe for the puppies to still feed off the female dog. If your dog is also receiving a haircut our groomers must sometimes use a clipper coolant to cool down the blade they're grooming with. This means the spray could possibly transmit to the momma dogs coat. With this being said it is not safe for a puppy to ingest this. By signing below, I assume any risk of harm or injury which might occur to the participant due to her participation in the event or activity. I release Happy K9 Dog Wash Inc. from all liability, costs and damages which might arise from participation in the above-named event or activity. I further provide my consent for Happy K9 Dog Wash Inc. to groom my dog.
